DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Toth et al., U. S. Patent 3,440,750 in view of Lindheim, U. S. Patent 1,245,475. Toth teaches a character constructed of plastic foam such as polyethylene foam cut or molded into various desired shapes such as the letter "A" (24). The characters may be made with surfaces having different colors. Toth does not teach the foam letter "M". Lindheim teaches a plurality of characters 2 in the shape of the letter of the alphabet (2). Specifically Lindheim teaches the letter "M" having a "v" shaped central portion and side legs extending down from the upper distal end of the central portion, whereby the leg extend below the lower portion of the "v". It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time this invention was made to construct the character of the device taught by Toth in the shape "M" taught by Lindheim to provide a means of displaying the letter "M" on the board.

Response to Arguments

The applicant argues that Toth does not teach a foam body in the form of the letter "M". In addition, the applicant argues that Toth does not teach mounting the letter "M" on the head of a person. Furthermore, the applicant argues that Lindheim does not teach constructing the letter "M" of sufficient size and from a suitable foam material so that it can be mounted on a person's head to serve as a head-mounting display.

The examiner contends that the applicant's arguments focus to the intended use of the device and not the structure. The examiner maintains that the combination of Toth and Lindheim teaches the claimed structure of the applicant's invention. It has been held that a recitation with respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from a prior art apparatus satisfying the claimed structural limitations. Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (1987)

In addition, the examiner contends that Toth is cited to show a foam body in the shape or form of an alphanumeric character, specifically the letter "A". As stated above Lindheim is cited to show an alternate shape or form of an alphanumeric character "M". Toth clearly suggest that the form body can be cut or molded into various desired shapes. (See column 2, line 31-35). Since the letter "M" is another alphanumeric character, it would have been obvious to substitute the letter "A" for the letter "M".

The rejection is maintained.

Conclusion

2. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
